Not illustrated. 1916 edition. Excerpt: ... who describes three groups: (1) with hyperplasia of normal lymphatic tissue; (2) with chronic tuberculous granulation tissue without caseation; and (3) with tuberculous granulation tissue with demonstrable tubercle bacilli, or positive tuberculin reaction. Tileston reserves the term Mikulicz's disease for cases of chronic, painless, bilateral enlargement of the salivary and lacrimal glands, in which we can positively exclude leukemia and pseudoleukemia.
