

Arne Jacobsen

This is the first monograph published in Japan to contain the works of Arne Jacobsen, the celebrated Danish architect and designer known for his wide-ranging and enthusiastic approach to designing peoples lives, from furniture to products and the buildings themselves. Comprehensively, all elements of our environment fell within his scope of ambition. Numerous new photographs by architectural photographer Yukio Yoshimura were specially made for this publication, which includes such notable works by Jacobsen as the Sollerod and Aarhus city halls, St Catherines College, Rodovre Library and the Bellavista housing complex. With an essay by Toshihiko Suzuki.
